

National History Day How-Tos Workshop

Students will participate in each of the sessions below. For the first session all students will be together. For sessions two and three students will be divided into project type (exhibits, websites, papers, etc.).

Investigate Your Topic

This session will explore how to conduct research, investigate your topic, and prepare an annotated bibliography.

Build Your Case

Organizing your research is key to developing a solid case to show why your topic is significant in History. This session will provide you with tools to gather all of your research and organize it to support your argument.

Create Your Project

Just as a chef puts all of the ingredients together in a final dish, you will need to pull everything together and present it as a documentary, paper, performance, website, exhibit, or 2D Display. This session will focus on how to present your project based on your category type.
